Things to do in San Francisco - Part 27 - Metreon

Who doesn't love movies and shopping? Well, most men, I suppose. But if you women want to marathon shop and then take a 3-hour break with on of the latest new releases in one of the most unique structures of the modern era, this is your place. And if you men want to "kill the pants" and afterward relax with a few car crashes and explosions, you might enjoy this place too!

Yahoo Travel says this about the Metreon:

This gleaming mass of brushed-chrome, plate-glass and 21st century attitude is one of The City's best shopping and entertainment complexes with first-rate shops, restaurants, attractions, and state-of-the-art cinemas (including an IMAX. Sony Playstation store in the whole wide world, plus hyper-cool video arcades. The food court is a cut above what you will find in a typical mall, featuring outposts of such San Francisco restaurants as Sanraku. Hands-on is the house rule. Look through colorful coffee table books. Touch Sony's biggest touchscreen remote. Capture alien invaders at the PlayStation store, and then bring home the latest band's CD spinning inside the listening station. You'll also find other great places to browse and shop like: Sony Style letting you kick back in one of the "living rooms," and watch a movie on the biggest television, or try out the latest HandyCam.
